

BRESNAHAN TO PUT
SPIDERS IN TOLEDO

Cleveland Association Club
Will Be Sold to Him for $115,000.

CUBS WILL RELEASE HIM

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—Roger Bresnahan, former club manager, will become owner and manager of the Toledo team, if satisfactory arrangements can be made with President Weeghman of the Cubs, according to information gleaned today at the annual meeting of the American Association.

It was learned that Bresnahan can purchase the franchise for $115,000, and has the backing with which to do it, but cannot proceed until he gets his release from the local National League team.

Bresnahan will have little difficulty in obtaining his release from the Cubs. President Weeghman says he will do anything to help the catcher better himself if there is a chance. Weeghman says he will not hold Bresnahan, and that he would even be willing to help him in regard to players.

The American Association magnates who met today were George Weeghman of Kansas City, J. C. McGill and Jack Hendricks of Indianapolis, A. W. Schorsch and Bobby Quinn of Columbus, Ohio, and J. H. McGraw of New York. They were met by J. H. McGraw of New York and J. H. McGraw of New York.

Besides the status of the Cleveland Spiders, the arrangement of a championship playing card and player salary limit problems held the attention of the group.

While the big minor officials were holding over the Toledo mystery a hot campaign was set in motion by the managers who have been clamoring for the old salary limit of $5,000 a month and the original player limit of eighteen men.

Regarding the situation at Toledo and Cleveland President Christman had the following to say: "I expect to have some definite news regarding that by Monday. I understand that Roger Bresnahan is in Cleveland at the present time, and his presence there may have some bearing on the situation."

President Weeghman and Tinker announced the sale of Curcio Beck, Artie Deland and Eugene (Bubba) Hargrave to the Kansas City Blues. Danny Shay, manager of the Blues, had been offered $75,000 in payment for the services of the trio. Beck is a first baseman. With the exit of Beck, Phil and Hargrave the club officials have arranged to place seven others, Fisher, Scher and McFarley having been allocated tentatively to Los Angeles, and J. H. McGraw having been allocated to St. Paul. The board of directors confirmed the transfer of the St. Paul Baseball Corporation to J. H. McGraw and his associates. Chicago's J. H. McGraw is now permanent to Joe Cantillon's championship Millers.

Real Estate Man Plans Suit for Commission for Buying Field.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—An attorney acting on behalf of John C. Riley, real estate broker, has filed an attachment on the property of the Boston National League club in anticipation of a suit for alleged failure of the parties named to pay a commission on the sale of the property in Alton, which includes Braves Field and the land between Braves Field and Commonwealth avenue. Riley claims that he received authority from President Gaffney to act as his agent in obtaining land for a new ball park and that he was able to offer Messrs. Gaffney and Davis the property which embraces Braves Field. He states that when the actual purchase was made Gaffney and Davis ignored him altogether and did business with J. H. McDonald, who represented the owner of the property.

Strangler Nearly Down When He Hits and Throws Roller.

Strangler Lewis threw Dr. R. F. Roller in a wrestling bout in the Manhattan Opera House last night after one of the most exciting bouts of the tournament. In the first hour of the bout Dr. Roller seemed to have the advantage, but then Lewis improved. In the last five minutes Lewis turned the tide and won the bout by a body hold on Lewis and threw him to the mat, but Lewis wriggled free and both men were on their feet. Lewis was the victor.

SINCLAIR READY TO QUIT
BASEBALL AS MAGNATE

Out of the Market Now for New York Giants, Both He and Gilmore Say—Will Stand by Fed Friends, However.

Harry F. Sinclair, head keeper of the Federal League slaves, is out of the market for the New York Giants. He says so himself: Fighting Jim Gilmore says so. But if further corroboration were needed it should be sought no further in the fact that Sinclair sold Lee Magee to the New York American League club.

Sinclair is out of baseball for good, so far as the promotion of the game is concerned. He will wind up his interest in the sport—as a magnate, at least—so soon as he disposes of Benny Kauff, Tom Houston and the other chaff of diamond renown that the "best" of the independent circuit left on his hands. The Oklahoma oil king is now prepared to close out his association with the diamond sport by selling the players he controls to the highest bidder.

Henceforth Sinclair's interest in baseball will be limited to the fact that he will stand behind them if they have opportunity to place themselves under the protection of the National League, which pays obedience to the National Commission.

Will Not Aid Friends.

Sinclair is still behind Pat Powers, who steered him into the white elephant at Harrison, N. J., in Pat's bid for the Newark franchise of the International League. He will also back Gilmore if fighting Jim Gilmore can get a major league franchise at a reasonable price. But Sinclair personally desires to be nothing but a big toad in a big pond. No title or honor will induce him to help any of the major league franchises.

Sinclair might have had, at reasonable terms, any one of a number of major league franchises. He could have bought the Braves for less than the Yankees and his associates paid. Better than that, he could have purchased an interest in the former world's champions with James E. Garfield and Robert H. Davis. Sinclair might have had the Cubs, but he stepped aside for Charles Weeghman, a man very popular in the Windy City. The oil man had an opportunity to purchase the Browns; he turned down a good bargain for the Cincinnati Reds and turned a deaf ear when the Cleveland Americans were practically thrust at him. With Sinclair it was New York or nothing.

Harry F. Sinclair tried unsuccessfully to buy New York. The oil man had an opportunity to purchase the Browns; he turned down a good bargain for the Cincinnati Reds and turned a deaf ear when the Cleveland Americans were practically thrust at him. With Sinclair it was New York or nothing.

There was a time when the Yankees owned, plied by the dilatory and evasive tactics of their associates of the American League, might have considered a proposal to sell to Sinclair. That was in the unsettled times following the peace proclamation, when every effort to strengthen the Yankees seemed to be a proposal to sell to Sinclair. TIGERS GET TIRED EARLY PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—Following the announcement made early this week by Edward M. Gwiner, president of the local Federal club, that he had turned over to James A. Gilmore all of the rebel players with the exception of Steve Yerkes, came the information today from a man closely connected with the late outlaw league that the best of Gwiner's players would be eventually American League team, which probably will pass into the hands of Harry F. Sinclair, C. B. Comstock and Gilmore within the next few days.

The best players on the rebel team will not be disposed of by Jim Gilmore, said the informant. "Sinclair, Comstock and Gilmore are figuring mighty strongly on getting hold of the Cleveland Indians. The original proposition was to include Gwiner, but at the solicitation of the latter he has decided to get out of the game."

The Sinclair-Gilmore-Comstock combination is ready to pay $500,000 for the Cleveland Indians. The combination is ready to pay $500,000 for the Cleveland Indians. The combination is ready to pay $500,000 for the Cleveland Indians.

Boston, Jan. 15.—Harvard and Princeton clashed on the ice at the Arena tonight and the Crimson players won, 3 to 0, thus giving them a choice position in the Intercollegiate Hockey League. All of Harvard's success came during the second period and when Princeton had only a goal on the ice, penalties weakening the team.
